THE SNACKIFICATION OF BREAKFAST

The word “breakfast” is now appearing on products as diverse as ready meals, dairy drinks, hot drinks and bakery items. Our beverage concepts presented at the 2005 IFT Food Expo were well ahead of their time.

+358% growth in the number of global products featuring the term “breakfast” from 2005-2008.

+676% growth in the number of global products featuring an “ethical” positioning from 2011-2014 e.g. fairtrade. “Try a Little Respect” was identified as a key trend in 2013.

+91% growth in the number of global products featuring the freestyle term “clean label” or “natural” from 2008-2014. “Sense of Simplicity” was identified as a key trend in 2010.

THE BOOM IN PROTEIN

When Innova Market Insights presented an emerging research platform with whey protein (2008) and alternative proteins (2012), we foresaw a trend that has taken all aspects of the food industry by storm.

GLOBAL PRODUCTS WITH A PROTEIN CLAIM (2011-2014)

- 2011: 3,885
- 2012: 5,795
- 2013: 6,325
- 2014: 9,229

THE SUSTAINABILITY SHIFT

When Innova Market Insights identified “Sustainability Replaces Organic” as a key trend in 2008, marketing products on a “sustainable” or an “ethical” platform was almost unheard of.

+1457% growth in the number of global products featuring “sustainable” or “ethical” from 2008-2014.

THE SURGE IN CLEAN LABEL

When Innova Market Insights identified “Go Natural” as a key trend in 2008, just 79% of US new products featured one of these positioning. Over 90% of US products tracked in 2014 featured a “no additives/preservatives”, “natural” or “organic” positioning, up from 16.7% in 2013.

+206% growth in the number of global products with a “natural” or “organic” positioning from 2008-2014.

“GLUTEN FREE” GOES MAINSTREAM

Product launches to address the demands of consumers with allergies or those who believe that “free from” products are healthier continue to increase. But when Innova Market Insights first identified “Free From Roses” as a key trend in 2010, “gluten free” was yet to hit the big time.

+170% growth in the number of global products featuring the term “gluten free” from 2010-2014.

CATERING FOR MORE FOODIES

In the mid-2000s, Innova Market Insights highlighted the emergence of chef involvement and endorsement for food products and restaurant co-branding, indicating that more gourmet new product development was on the way.

GLOBAL PRODUCT LAUNCHES USING THE WORD “RECIPE” 2011-2014

- 2011: 1,175
- 2012: 1,215
- 2013: 1,215
- 2014: 1,300

THE RISE OF PRIVATE LABEL

Once mostly confined to staple goods, private label has infiltrated sectors where brand equity and loyalty among consumers is the highest. Innova Market Insights noted how the private label sector is positioning itself as a quality and innovative alternative at the 2007 IFT Food Expo.

“Consumer perceptions have changed and now private label is no longer perceived as being dull, bland and of a lesser quality. Retailers have become expert brand managers and their investment in their brands is being rewarded.”
